

Stay Ahead of Life's Challenges: Child Care

Relocating to a new town can often feel overwhelming, especially when you have children who will need daytime care. FamilySource® services from ComPsych® GuidanceResources® can help. Call us today free of charge to discuss options for child care and for help locating services that best suit your needs and the needs of your children.

Talk to us for help finding:

- In-home care providers
- Day care centers
- Preschools
- After-school activities
- Transportation options
- Local private schools
- Nanny or au pair services
- Or any other aspect of your child care needs

When you call, a GuidanceConsultantSM trained in addressing work-life issues will conduct a professional needs assessment. Once the assessment is complete, our Resource Specialists research all aspects of your request and produce a packet of information that can be faxed, emailed or sent by second-day air, saving you the time and hassle of doing the research yourself.

GuidanceResources® updates its centralized resource database regularly with information gathered from family care organizations and other service providers from across the country. Before making referrals, we evaluate each organization to ensure a good match for you and your family based on the specific criteria you have outlined. We also verify contact information, fees and hours of operation so you can have confidence in choosing the provider that best suit your needs.

Keep in mind that child care referrals are only the beginning of what FamilySource® can do. Contact us anytime for elder care, education, adoption, pet care, personal convenience or virtually any other topic on your to-do list.

Here when you need us.
